MASONIC LODGES HONOR WASHINGTON

Alexandria Lodges Observe 170th Anniversary of His Initiation.

Washington, Nov. 16. (Capital News Service).—One hundred and seventy years ago the man who was later to be the first President of the United States, became a Freemason in Fredericksburg, Va., Lodge Number 4. Shortly thereafter he became a member of Alexandria Lodge, No. 37, as it was then known. It is now Alexandria Washington Lodge No. 22. The name was changed by the addition of Washington's name after his death, and the number was changed when it was transferred from the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania to that of Virginia. He retained his membership in both lodges all his life, but devoted his Masonic attention to the Lodge of which he became Master, in Alexandria.

The 170th anniversary of the initiation of George Washington into the mysteries of Freemasonry was celebrated by the two Masonic Lodges of Alexandria, Alexandria Washington Lodge No. 22, of which Washington was the first worshipful master, and Andrew Jackson Lodge No. 120, Saturday evening, November 4, 1922, at 8 o'clock at the Masonic Temple.

A number of noted speakers delivered addresses, among them being Rear Admiral R. E. Coontz, Maj. Gen. John A. LeJune and Merton L. Faxon.
